this unique anthology draws from louis kahn speeches essays and interviews some never previously published to capture the evolution and central tenets of the influential american architect thinking from his early work of the 1940s to his death in 1974 professor twombly introduction and headnotes offer incisive commentary on the texts at a time when american political and cultural leaders asserted that the nation stood at the center of world awareness thinkers and artists sought to understand and secure principles that lay at the center of things from the onset of the cold war in 1948 through 1963 they asked what defined the essential character of american culture could permanent moral standards guide human conduct amid the flux and horrors of history in what ways did a stable self emerge through the life cycle could scientific method rescue truth from error illusion and myth are there key elements to democracy to the integrity of a society to order in the world answers to such questions promised intellectual and moral stability in an age haunted by the memory of world war and the possibility of future devastation on an even greater scale yet other key figures rejected the search for a center asserting that freedom lay in the dispersion of cultural energies and the plurality of american experiences in probing the centering impulse of the era at the center offers a unique perspective on the united states at the pinnacle of its power the first in depth biographical study of the brilliant but elusive architect who fundamentally redefined twentieth century architecture now ranked with frank lloyd wright le corbusier and mies van der rohe louis i kahn brought a reverence for history back into modern architecture while translating it into a uniquely contemporary idiom drawing on more than one hundred interviews with colleagues coworkers clients and family members and illustrated with many previously unpublished photographs this book documents the uniquely american rise of a poor immigrant to the pinnacle of the international architectural world it illuminates the richly diverse personal relationships kahn had with such clients as jonas salk and paul mellon and the romantic entanglements that mystified even those closest to him while celebrating the genius of kahn's art the book provides an invaluable portrait of the man who created it the architecture of ruins designs on the past present and future identifies an alternative and significant history of architecture from the sixteenth century to the twenty first century in which a building is designed occupied and imagined as a ruin this design practice conceives a monument and a ruin as creative interdependent and simultaneous themes within a single building dialectic addressing temporal and environmental questions in poetic psychological and practical terms and stimulating questions of personal and national identity nature and culture weather and climate permanence and impermanence and life and death conceiving a building as a dialogue between a monument and a ruin intensifies the already blurred relations between the unfinished and the ruined and envisages the past the present and the future in a single architecture structured around a collection of biographies this book conceives a monument and a ruin as metaphors for a life and means to negotiate between a self and a society emphasising the interconnections between designers and the particular ways in which later architects learned from earlier ones the chapters investigate an evolving interdisciplinary design practice to show the relevance of historical understanding to design like a history a design is a reinterpretation of the past that is meaningful to the present equally a design is equivalent to a fiction convincing users to suspend disbelief we expect a history or a novel to be written in words but they can also be delineated in drawing cast in concrete or seeded in soil the architect is a physical novelist as well as a physical historian like building sites ruins are full of potential in revealing not only what is lost but also what is incomplete a ruin suggests the future as well as the past as a stimulus to the imagination a ruin s incomplete and broken forms expand architecture s allegorical and metaphorical capacity indicating that a building can remain unfinished literally and in the imagination focusing attention on the creativity of users as well as architects emphasising the symbiotic relations between nature and culture a building designed occupied and imagined as a ruin acknowledges the coproduction of multiple authors whether human non human or atmospheric and is an appropriate model for architecture in an era of increasing climate change in light as experience and imagination from medieval to modern times david s herrstrom synthesizes and interprets the experience of light as revealed in a wide range of art and literature from medieval to modern times the true subject of the book is making sense of the individual s relationship with light rather than the investigation of light s essential nature while telling the story of light seducing individuals from the middle ages to our modern times consequently it is not concerned with the progress of scientific inquiries into the physical properties and behavior of light optical science but rather with subjective reactions as reflected in art architecture and literature instead of its evolution this book celebrates the complexity of our relation to light s character no individual experience of light being truer than any other
